A New Method for Mentoring

The T.R.I.O. Project is an Internet outreach program designed to provide lessons, music education, and mentoring to music students who do not have access to a private music teacher because of geographical location (rural areas) or economic situation. Current conservatory students will be partnered with students accepted into The T.R.I.O. Project to provide a mentor/mentee relationship.

We will be the first to tell you that nothing can take the place of a one-on-one lesson with a music teacher in your hometown...but when that is not an option, T.R.I.O. can help fill the gap.
